

NO ONE WRITES A SERIES ALONE

Remedy Transcript —
MacLennan & Spottiswood

The WGC's March 25th edition of Writers Talking TV featured a question and answer session at TIFF Bell Lightbox in Toronto by interviewer Michael MacLennan and subject Greg Spottiswood.

MacLennan isn't just a pal of Spottiswood's, he's a two-time finalist for the prestigious Governor General's Award, he's worked as a screenwriter for CBC and PBS and he's worked as a producer for the BBC. So he brings some understanding to his role of interviewer.

In all, the interview transcript is almost 20,000 words — in novella territory and requiring way more space than is available here. So we offer you some of the choice bits, as chosen and edited by editor Tom Villemaire.

Michael MacLennan, left, is greeted by friend and soon to be interview subject, Greg Spottiswood at the WGC's Writers Talking TV spring event at the Tiff Bell Lightbox.
